Gamma Globulin To Be Used to Prevent Polio

A new program in the treatment of persons who have been exposed to poliomyelitis, involving the injection of gamma globulin, was explained at the meeting of the doctors of the southwest branch of the Los Angeles County Medical Association held Tuesday, May 19.

who resides in the same living quarters as the diagnosed case of polio, or a visitor who has remained in the household for at least a 24-hour period.

Gamma globulin will produce partial protection against the effects of polio for approximately six weeks. Since the supply is limited, repeated injections throughout the polio season will not be possible.

Gamma globulin is a tiny section of blood that is manufactured by the Red Cross from the donated blood of the people of the United States. This manufacture also yields the vit K plasma used by our troops in Korea.

It is allocated to the Los Angeles County Health Department by the Office of Defense Mobilization and health centers throughout the country have been established as dispensing depots.

The local Health Center in Torrance, 2300 W. Carson St., was selected to service this area. When the Health Center is closed, dispensing will be done by the Torrance Memorial Hospital, 1425 Engracia Ave.

The gamma globulin is to be furnished free of charge upon receipt of the usual prescription blank by the Health Department distributing center.

In pilot studies carried on over a large area in Houston, Tex. and Sioux City, Ia., under the auspices of and financed by the March of Dimes Foundation, it was found that the effects of poliomyelitis and the resulting paralysis were greatly reduced in those children having received this serum prior to the onset of the disease.

HEAVY SHIPMENT
Heaviest rail shipment ever moved is believed to be a piece of oil refinery equipment weighing 488,200 pounds. It was shipped on two flat cars from St. Louis to Texas in 1938.
